

One of the privileges of being a candidate when I ran was being invited to the home of a local academic deity. As he smiled down at me from a great height, I was given a vicarious sense of what it means to be truly eminent.

That experience helped motivate me during the occasional dark days when my electoral prospects lost some of their glow.